CARIE & ERIC

BEN BRIDGE CUSTOMERS | MARRIED 1/14/12

HERS: Diamond ring and matching pavé band

HIS: Gold and titanium band

I met Eric on my family's lakeside dock where my parents also met in 1968. We dated awhile, but didn't get really serious—until we reconnected seven years later. Eric's proposal was a total surprise: we were chatting as I fixed my mascara in the bathroom and I was speechless when he presented the ring: a gorgeous, halo-set A. Jaffe. I combined it with the matching pavé band in white gold and a band in yellow gold—I love mixed metals. On our wedding day, I wore a single golden pearl pendant and Eric wore his wedding gift from me, a Tissot pocket watch, both from Ben Bridge.

A story millions of years in the making.

Formed by the mysterious forces of nature deep below the frozen tundra, Ikuma® diamonds were raised closer to the earth's surface by powerful volcanic eruptions. Today, Ikuma® diamonds are sourced carefully and in close collaboration with indigenous communities of Canada. The story of the Ikuma® diamond culminates as the symbol of your love—and a new story begins.

new traditionalist

You’re a trailblazer, faced with the rare opportunity to create fresh expressions of commitment and union, from the ceremony to the daily symbols of your affection. Do you choose simple bands or ornate? Do they have to match? Should you propose? Only one thing’s for sure: you don’t have to navigate this new journey alone.

vintage style

You embrace every opportunity to carry your beloved bag from the 50s, slip your grandmother's stole around your shoulders or wear your hair in glamorous old Hollywood waves. When it comes to jewelry, dainty and delicate enthralls you: filigree, sparkling pavé and old-time gemstones that reflect the best of the past. In fact, you're probably already combing antique shops for vintage gloves, a birdcage veil or a gorgeous brooch to adorn your bouquet.

bridal party gifts

Your best friends sometimes drive you crazy, but you love them no matter what. Make sure they know.

Your bridesmaids know you better than anyone, a fact you will realize all over again when it's speech time at your rehearsal dinner and wedding reception. Whether you blush, laugh or cry at the memories they share, embrace the magic of being surrounded by your favorite people. One day soon, you'll laugh at the hours upon hours you spent together picking out dresses, fretting over invitation fonts and guest lists. But now, don't miss your chance to show them that you wouldn't trade your time together for anything, that you'll always be close, no matter the time or distance.

groom's party gifts

They've had your back from the start. Show them you noticed.

the best man

The best man is a groom's key guy, the one he can always count on to help him stay focused on the task at hand, whether it's tuxedo fittings, getting those vows written or keeping the groomsmen updated on wedding events. It's time to thank your right-hand man with a gift he'll reach for time and time again when he wants to look his best.

the groomsmen

Who could make it through this journey without their boys? From ring shopping to tux fittings to driving around wedding guests, they've been there, ready to help. They may not come out and say it, but they're glad about this marriage—it couldn't happen to a better guy. Now, treat them with a gift they'll actually want to keep.

eight whole years later—I guess we were always meant to be. Kyle proposed in a beautiful field at the Sleeping Lady Resort in the mountains near Leavenworth, Washington. I just love my ring, a perfect 1 carat diamond from Ben Bridge.

parent gifts

They wish you nothing but happiness. Tell them the feeling's mutual.

They've always been there for you. From the first fragile moments they cradled you in their arms, to when they opened their arms and sent you off to conquer the world.

Before you know it, you'll glide down the aisle on your father's arm. You'll try not to cry when you see your mother beaming with pride. Now you're a bride-to-be, but you'll always be their little girl.

Across all cultures, weddings are a time to honor your parents. (And yes, that includes your future in-laws!) Now's the time to thank them for those years they made your lunch, drove you to practice, helped you with homework, and show them they'll always be in your heart.
